ArchPoint™ Consulting Selects Zapoint® SkillsMapper
To Enhance Its Talent Management Capabilities

Organizational Consulting Firm Views Zapoint SkillsMapper

As Groundbreaking Tool for Tracking, Selecting and Developing Managerial Talent

April 27th, 2009 – Zapoint®, a provider of Web-based Human Capital Management (HCM) software, today announced that ArchPoint™ Consulting, a leading professional services firm based in San Antonio, Texas, has selected Zapoint's SkillsMapper analytical tool as a major addition to its capabilities in talent management consulting. ArchPoint intends to use SkillsMapper to provide its corporate clients with advanced Human Capital Management (HCM) services, including matching employee skills to broad strategic goals, developing executive talent, and identifying skills gaps within an organization.

As part of the SkillsMapper integration, ArchPoint Consulting and Zapoint will assist each other in marketing the Zapoint technology to corporate clients. It is expected that the addition of SkillsMapper will significantly enhance ArchPoint Consulting's talent management capabilities for companies dealing with strategic realignment, leadership succession, rapid expansion and other organizational change.

ArchPoint Consulting, a division of ArchPoint, is a professional services firm providing consulting, training, interim management, executive coaching and advisory services to major corporations across America and around the world. The firm serves clients in more than a dozen industries from consumer products to telecommunications, and is highly respected within the HCM field for its expertise.

"The combination of Zapoint and ArchPoint will create a leading force in the Human Capital Management space," said Zapoint founder and CEO Chris Twyman. "Together we anticipate helping ArchPoint provide its customers with the most effective portfolio of HCM products and services in the industry. This reinforces our commitment to helping customers manage and transform their human capital into a true competitive advantage."

"SkillsMapper is a highly advanced, powerful tool that will help ArchPoint Consulting differentiate itself in the talent management space," said Richard Spoon, Chief Executive Officer of ArchPoint Consulting. "SkillsMapper is unequalled at accurately assessing and mapping the skills of individuals both within and outside an organization, and bringing those skills into closer alignment with critical corporate objectives."
